Another Railroad.
The West Union (O.) Defender says: Mr. Gallagher, of the firm of Wetmore & Gallagher, is in town and brings the word that we are likely to have another railroad. This time the road runs from Xenia to Mayville, via. Willsington, Lynchburg, Winchester, West Union, and from there through the State to John Branson's, where it hits the head of Island Creek and thence to Manchester and Mayville. Mr. G. says that parties in Xenia have been writing him about the route, and that his observation is that the route is entirely practical and easy of construction. Inasmuch as it runs on the "backbone" or divide between the water flowing into the Miami on one side and the Scioto river on the other, nearly its entire distance. It runs through a highly fertile country and strikes a chain of good towns which are without railroad connection, in a majority of instances.

A Mayville Girl Alred.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 4, 1884.
Ed. Bulletin: As the time is now drawing to a close for me to leave this city of brotherly love and return to my native home in Ohio, I will do so as a promised—write another letter for your interesting paper. On Saturday, December 30, 1883, we visited the Fairview Home. This is a large building of stone and is situated on the corner of Seventh and Toga streets. The rooms in this building are furnished by the different lodges of Eastern Pennsylvania. On returning home we passed the cemetery in which Benjamin Franklin is buried. This cemetery is situated at the corner of Fifth and Arch streets. On Tuesday, it being the first day of the new year, there was a large parade called the New Year's parade, which consisted of two hundred and four different clubs, and each member of these clubs was charged to represent different things. There was a number of fine bands in the parade, such as the Beck Band, the Wagoner Band, the Michigan Band and others. These are indeed very fine bands and can be excelled by only one other in the United States, which is the Hance's Band and Brass Band of Mayville, Ky.

On Wednesday, January 2nd, we visited the blind asylum, situated at the corner of Twelfth and Race streets. This asylum is a very large building of stone and at the present time has about one hundred and thirty inmates. On entering, we purchased our tickets for the afternoon, which they have every Wednesday afternoon. Then we proceeded to the men's work room where all the men are employed in making different things, such as brooms, brushes, weaving carpets, etc. After visiting the men's room we went up to the exhibition hall, which is on the second floor, and were just in time for the entertainment. First music by the young men of the asylum, the whole band consisting of fifteen pieces. Next was the performance on the piano by a young blind man, then a blind boy sang three or four different songs, then the scholars were examined in geography and examples and reading and writing. At this saying the pupils learn three different things, first they receive literary instructions, then music and then they learn their trades. On returning to the first floor we visited the school rooms, which are two large rooms, one for the girls the other for the boys. Mr. Editor, as I have given you a description of all the houses, I will try now to give you a description of some of the fine churches of the city. First, the Cathedral, situated at the corner of Eighteenth and Race streets. This is a very large building of brown stone and the floor is of marble and will cost about eight thousand people. In this building are some very handsome paintings, also the statues of the apostles in life size. Second is St. Clemente Church, situated at the corner of Twentieth and Church streets. This is the highest Episcopal Church in the city. The choir consists of one hundred and fifty persons. Next is the Bethany Church. It is a Methodist Church and is situated at the corner of Twenty-second and Bainbridge streets. This is a very large church and has the largest Sunday school in the city, the average attendance numbers two hundred and five hundred scholars every Sunday. Next is the Baptist Church, situated at the corner of Broadway and Water streets. This is the finest Baptist Church in the city and seat about six thousand people. The inside of this church is very beautiful, there being two galleries and the ceiling and walls are handsomely frescoed. One of the finest Presbyterian Churches in the city is at the corner of eleventh and Arch streets. Now, Mr. Editor, I have given you a description of the churches I have visited, of course, there are indeed many more fine churches in this city, but not visiting them I am not able to describe them.
